1 – Road map

Defined plan:

We looked at our situation and concluded that, as previously defined, the entire frontend of the application was done. And some of the Rest API endpoints were consumed, so we defined that by the end of the week all the work that was left needs to be done.

2 – Create the issues to the next iteration

Defined plan:

According to the what needs to be done in the next iteration we created the issues and updated the backlog. Having the issues already created and according with the preferences of each of us and considering what each of us did in this iteration, we defined what we would do.

Next Steps:

1. Finish consuming the Rest API endpoints
